THE PURPLE AND GOLD.

Hail Waukegan High, Hail Waukegan High,
How grandly rings your name,
With fervor joy and loyalty,
As it wings its way to fame.
In our school we climb the ladder—
Four years of constant stress,
Every task that we can conquer,
A step upyard to success.

Chorus:

Hooray, hoorah, rah-rah rah-rah
Waukegan,
Hooray, hoorah, rah-rah rah-rah
Waukegan,
Whistle ————— boom!

Hail Waukegan High, Hail Waukegan High,
We will ever praise our honored
school, her worth can ne'er be told.
Hail Waukegan Hail, Hail Waukegan High,
From your mantled walls of ivy clad
'Neath the Purple and the Gold.

THE SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The history of the class of 1928 may well be compared with the history of our own community. Like the settlers of old, we journeyed far to a strange land and established ourselves, a band of four hundred and three, in the territory, to us unknown, of the Waukegan Township High School. The early settlers had Indians and wild beasts to contend with, we had the upper classmen to make our lives miserable; they had to conquer forests and prairies in order to secure from Mother Earth food to sustain life, we had to conquer Latin conjugations and mathematical problems and dig out of our text books the knowledge which would permit us to remain in this new country. However, in spite of all this toil and hardship, we enjoyed our new surroundings.

Soon we found that we had some real talent among our neighbors and we spent many pleasant hours, in lunch periods and at other times, enjoying this talent. Between work and play, our first year passed rapidly and we soon found ourselves, after a three-months' vacation, at the beginning of our second year. Of course, a few did not survive the savage books of learning.

Our second year was less eventful than our first, for we were now accustomed to the community. However, it was not without its pleasures. The girls received the most outstanding honors, for Helen Cameron won the popularity contest and the girls' basketball team received the championship.

With the dawning of our third year, we become truly upper classmen; and, now, instead of being looked down upon, we were the ones to assume a supercilious air. The class of '28 attained many honors during its junior year. Outstanding, perhaps, was the honor attained by William Loehr. He was one of the seven winners in the national essay contest of the American Chemical Society. Fred Lindahl, also, brought honor to his school when he broke the record for the mile run at the track meet at Urbana. Our class also has the distinction of being the first class to give matinee dances. These have become very successful. However, on May 6 came the most important event of the school year, the Junior Prom. Everyone who attended agreed that it was the best Prom in the history of Waukegan Township High School. Our third year ended with Tekla Wainio giving a very witty response to the Seniors' slander on Class Night.

At the beginning of our senior year, the class won recognition by receiving two thousand pictures of Abraham Lincoln as a reward for valiant efforts in securing subscriptions to the Student "W" World. On November 11, the seniors, with the juniors, enjoyed a dance given in the gymnasium. Then came the Holidays, followed by the semester tests, which no more had terror for us, for we were old residents in that community and were looking forward to immigration to a new country. Finally, we appear as a group of very serious-minded students, numbering about two hundred and twenty-five, passing from the Halls of Learning out into the good old world to pursue happiness.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION TO OUR SPONSORS

When the four hundred young members of the W. T. H. S. Colony had progressed as far as the second year of their apprenticeship at the footstool of education, they chose Miss Allen and Mr. Schmitkin as their guides through the rocky years to follow.

That they had chosen wisely was proved by the varied successes of the class. Their sophomore party was a huge success; and due to Miss Allen's indefatigable efforts, the "gym" was transformed into a gorgeous flower garden for the "Most Successful Prom" ever given.

And so the class wishes to publicly express their true appreciation to their sponsors. The seniors close their last year more grateful than ever to their "guiding genius."

"There is an acre sown with royal seeds."

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

A band of colonists moored their barks on the wild shore of the New World of Higher Education three years ago, for the purpose of establishing Fort '29. This was a year of great strife—Indian encounters and hard work; but, under the able leadership of Paul Jolley, commander-in-chief, Gilbert Richards, second in command, Robert Coulson, treasurer and Dorothy Brumund, scribe, the colony prospered.

Despite many hardships, the second year of colonization in the New World was a fine year for Fort '29. To pilot the settlers through the second year, the inhabitants elected Alvin Waite, commander-in-chief, Alice Schlosser, second-in-command, and Jane Murray, treasurer-scribe. The colonists were so honored this year as to be represented on the All-Fort Debate Team by Raymond Kolbe, Robert Coulson and Dorothy Brumund, who composed the entire negative team.

The settlers of Fort '29 awaited with eagerness the beginning of their third year of colonization, looking forward to peace and calm for the coming year.

Chief Failure, head war chief of the Examination Indians, made raids on the colonists about every six weeks. Forewarned by some old scouts and pioneers, most of the settlers were prepared for the attacks; but, sad to say, many heedless ones scoffed at their more cautious neighbors and consequently fell victims to Chief Failure.

Knowing that no group of people can withstand the great odds against them unless unified, the colony, under the able leadership of two old settlers, Miss Holloway, and Mr. Cole, elected Joe Levandusky commander-in-chief of the fort, Howard Howe, second in command, and Helen Buck, treasurer-scribe of the colony.

In this same year, according to the custom of colonists, the inhabitants of the Fort chose their coat of arms. Also, this growing colony purchased stationery bearing the seal used by all those who have broken free from the mother country, Grammar Education, and have settled in the new land. Fort '29 very obligingly sold this stationery to nearby forts.

This year Fort '29 was again represented on the All-Fort Debate Team by four colonists—Robert Coulson, Howard Howe, Raymond Kolbe and Sam Katz; moreover, Robert Coulson, representing '29, won the All-Fort Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. In all athletic contests—football, basketball, track and baseball—settlers of '29 were foremost. Francis Mannebach was elected captain of the All-Fort baseball team and Joe Levandusky captain of the football team for the coming year. In addition to these honors, the colonists showed themselves to be very talented along dramatic, musical and literary lines.

The first social event of the season was the Fort '29-'30 ball. The ballroom was decorated in true autumn fashion with pumpkins and cornstalks, and a fine musical entertainment was furnished by Wallin's Orchestra. The crowning social affair of the season was the Fort '29 Prom, held in May, in honor of the departing settlers of Fort '28.

Now the third year of colonization in the New World has come to a close and all the inhabitants of Fort '29 are looking forward, with the keenest anticipation, to another successful and well-spent year.

S. DOROTHY BRUMUND, '29.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The new young settlers breathed a happy sigh on that bright September morning when they proudly surveyed Little Fort and the new position they had earned through an entire year of earnest toil.

However, they realized that all was not sunshine and song; accordingly, they began to erect Fort Study in a valiant effort to protect themselves from the long sieges which they knew were to follow. Soon after the leaders of the little group were chosen to head them: the three outstanding ones being Leo Palucius, Virginia Bairstow and Russel Whyte.

The First Six Weeks, a small tribe of red-skins, was amazed to find the settlers well prepared; incidentally, the disgruntled chief found his warriors sadly in need of reinforcements after the battle. In time, a more formidable division of the huge tribe of Six Weeks made its appearance: namely, Second Six Weeks; and later, Third Six Weeks. Both tribes made an ignominious retreat with but one or two scalps.

Excitement reigned in Fort Study as word was brought by spies of the approach of Tribe Semester's End, famed far and wide for its unusual strength in matters of warfare. Barricaded by books and cram-sheets, the pioneers trained rigorously for an inevitable encounter.

The encounter was brief; but, alas, the red-skins departed with many scalps to their credit.

The sun shone again for the settlers, and shortly after the Semester battle an annual good-time event took place, in which a majority of them participated wholeheartedly.

To their great pleasure, they found men and women among them who elevated the standards of the group by ranking high in various forms of sport and types of social activity.

Only the bravest and the most industrious were left to hew down the Forest of Difficulties, and to do away with various obstacles; all of this, however, was undertaken with vim and vigor in lieu of the shining promise of advancement that beckoned to them from a now greatly shortened distance.

Greatly inspired by their recent successes, the hardy warriors easily downed such tribes as the Fifth Six Weeks and a few brother tribes; in addition, the young settlers found time to sponsor many enjoyable entertainments, including those presented by glee clubs and choruses made up of the gifted songsters of the group.

The climax arrived with a flourish, but as they had been forewarned, the young settlers regarded the invaders with a certain confidence, born of preparedness; eventually, the fierce Year End tribe of whooping Indians looked rather sickly as they retreated with ridiculously few scalps on their belts; in fact, they looked extremely sheepish to the eyes of the rejoicing victors.

The Sophomores are now smoking a pipe of peace and pipe-dreaming about the time when they extend the walls of Sophomore Fort Study and will build a larger fort called the "Junior Barracks of Learning." We watch the rejoicing little band move onward, not to be disturbed by red-skins for several months. They have won their laurels and are swiftly nearing their ultimate goal—the fertile, well-tilled lands of GRADUATION.

For the first time in the history of Little Fort a group of new settlers, one-hundred-forty-six in number, came in the middle of the winter to settle the territory bounded on the west by Jackson Street, on the east by Victory Street, on the north by Washington Street and on the south by the gymnasium. It seemed as if we could never accustom ourselves to this new territory, but ere many days had passed we were as much at ease as the upper classmen. Of course we sometimes passed to the wrong classes and it was but a short time ago that one of our members appeared in a Spanish class, thinking it was Dramatics. (This came from the spirit of pioneering and only goes to prove our high aspirations.)

As "Freshies," the members of the class felt that they were looked down upon and were elated for a week if noticed by upper classmen. However, this elation subsided when we noticed that the senior school pupils had one great failing—their insistence on priority in the lunch line.

As a mark of our versatility, it may be well to note these facts: one of our class was on the lightweight foot-ball team; another member received five 95's; the freshmen class furnished a very active cheer leader; one of our members contributed art work for the annual; and two others brought distinction to the class, by being on the Junior Swimming team.

One day in October we elected our officers. Several weeks later we decided to give a class party. This would be our first social event since entering high school; and oh, how thrilled we were! At this Christmas party, given on December seventeenth, clever programs shaped like bells were distributed by Santa at the door on the junior assembly. The fun for the evening started when a playlet, "Mimi Lights the Candle," was presented by members of the freshman dramatics classes. Santa then took the stage and presents were distributed. After the merriment caused by his clever speeches, the orchestra furnished music for dancing on the third floor.

On the twenty-third of January we were ready to begin the work of our second year. As Sophomores, older and more experienced in the ways of the school, we have changed considerably, and now we are gasping in a struggle with second year "math." We have learned that "there is no royal road to Geometry." As Sophomores, we are proud to say that we have increased our bank account considerably by giving the clever play, "The Little Princess."

This is the history of the class of February, '31. Three hundred days have come and gone since our pioneering group arrived and now another band has dared to enter this territory in the middle of the winter. They are struggling bravely.

"Freshies, freshies, don't you cry,
You'll be Sophomores bye and bye."

FRESHMEN CLASS HISTORY

For eight years we ploughed our weary way in our covered wagon through mud, rain and occasional sunshine, with only the hope of a better land ahead, a land richer and more fertile than we had ever seen before. Finally, after numerous hardships, we reached our promised land, Little Fort High School, under the leadership of old settlers.

They told us of the dangers that were always threatening the town, how we could overcome them, and of the neighboring tribes of Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors which were lying in wait for the new pioneers.

The older pioneers were very kind and hospitable to us, teaching us how to plough our new fields and sow the seeds, in order to reap an abundant harvest.

We set out with a will to overcome the various obstacles that threatened us on all sides. Some of our companions were too weak to withstand the difficulties, and we were forced to leave them, even though the loss was felt by all.

So that we might combat against our new foes more easily, we organized our band and elected heads. We chose Guy Robbins as our President, Virginia Dennis as our Assistant President and Margaret Wandel as our clerk. To celebrate our organizing we held one of the most enjoyable merry-making times of our lives. Every one enjoyed himself or herself and we felt that this repaid us somewhat for all we had endured.

We, Freshmen pioneers, have been in our new land for nearly a year and have enjoyed much and also suffered much. We can see good results from our first year's work, and we are hoping to make our next years even more successful!

MID-YEAR FRESHMEN CLASS HISTORY

For the second time in the history of Waukegan High, a group of aspiring young students entered our portals in the middle of the year. Last year the class consisted of about sixty. This year the number increased to two hundred. In all probability, the number in this class will continue to increase until it equals the classes entered in September.

The new addition, consisting of twelve class rooms and connecting the gym with the junior building, was opened at this time to accomodate these new comers. Although they are as green as freshman usually are, they are gradually learning to settle down to high school routine.

"The usual mode adapted in early days, in organizing new counties, in designating the precise locality determined upon, was to put a stake or post at the point selected."

STUDENT "W" WORLD

During the past year, the Student "W" World, weekly newspaper of the Waukegan Township High School, has made strides in its progress unequaled in previous years of its existence. The paper at the present time covers every phase of school life and is published every Friday under the able supervision of William R. Baker.

The publication, varying from four to twelve pages, was on the average a six-page, five-column paper. In addition to the news stories of happenings during the school week, the paper carried feature stories and regularly conducted columns of various things throughout the school.

Again this year the Student "W" World received a certificate of excellent rating at the Illinois State High School Press Association Convention, held at Urbana, Illinois, November 17, 18 and 19.

The ads and heads for the paper are set up in the school print shop, where the students of printing also print the paper, by means of the cylinder press, which is a part of the print shop equipment.

The Student "W" World thanks the school board, faculty members, office assistants and the student body for their hearty cooperation in assisting the school paper to attain its present high standard.

ANNUAL STAFF

The Annual has developed into a school activity. No longer is the book a product of the Senior Class. The art department, the printing department and the staff are all responsible for the success of the book.

This year, for the first time, the staff has met during school time. This gave the class time to study the production of an annual from all phases before actually beginning work on it.

At the annual meeting of the Illinois High School Press Association, the '27 "W" received fourth place. The staff of the '28 "W" has endeavored to put out a book worthy of high rating from that association.

ART DEPARTMENT

Early last October members of the regular art classes expressed their willingness to cooperate with the annual staff in an effort to produce the finest and most attractive yearbook that has ever been produced in the Waukegan High School. In fact, the art department agreed to do all of the illustrating and designing for the annual.

"Little Fort," which was Waukegan's name in the early days, was chosen to be the theme of this year's book. This theme was to be developed throughout every phase of the book. A search was then made for historical data, maps and pictures of our town at that early period. We were very fortunate in securing a fine, old, pictorial map, a reproduction of which was the background for the photographs.

Twenty full page original illustrations in color were planned to precede the main sections and divisions of the book. These illustrations are in the form of block prints. This meant that the students not only must make their colored illustrations on paper, but also must carve the designs upon the linoleum blocks used to print the plate in the annual. Fifty-three accurately carved blocks were required, as it is necessary to have a separate block for each color.

Twenty-five pen-and-ink drawings were also made for the cover design, title and contents pages, background panels, headings, tailpieces, etc.

The majority of the students who worked on these illustrations under the direction of Miss Higley and Miss McKinney are in the above picture.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

President .....Robert Coulson

Vice-President.....Leo Singer

Secretary.....Ella Osgood

Treasurer.....Gilbert Richards

The Math. Club, since its organization in 1923, has grown in membership from 27 to 49, notwithstanding the fact that membership is limited to those upperclassmen who have given evidence of an interest in higher mathematics.

The club was formed for the purpose of giving the students an opportunity to discuss various phases of advanced mathematics. In order to make this discussion clear and comprehensive, leaders in different fields of applied mathematics gave talks on such subjects as "The Use of the Slide Rule," "Electrical and Mechanical Engineering," "Surveying," etc. Reports by the students on lectures and magazine articles provided another interesting and fascinating means of informing the members. Although this club was in no sense a social club, entertainment was provided at the meetings in the form of recitations and mathematical games and puzzles. A great deal of praise is due Miss Margaret Dady and Miss Bess Dady, the sponsors of this club, for their unceasing efforts to bring about the successful attainment of the purposes of the club. Taking everything into consideration, Little Fort and its high school should be proud to number among the societies one devoted to mathematics.

An energetic and prominent organization of 1927-28 was "El Círculo Español." At the meetings, instructive talks were given about Spanish art, customs, amusements, government and various topics of interest. Short Spanish plays and costume dances, given by members of the club, beside Spanish songs sung by all, were attractive features on the programs. Spanish games and pictures of Spanish scenes, shown by means of the lantern and accompanied by talks, also helped to make this year's Spanish club a pleasure and a success.

The last meeting was a social one and a fitting climax to the year's activities.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

President.....Mlle. Dorothy Brumond
 Vice-President.....Mlle. Helen Buck
 Secretary.....Mlle. Lois Mansnerus
 Treasurer.....Mlle. Helen Wilmot

When our fathers built Little Fort, they did not wish to lose all touch with the Old World and they decided that, for the ben fit of themselves, they would continue the study of French, the universal language of the continent. Some fourteen years ago the French students of the Waukegan Township High School organized "Le Cercle Français," whose membership this year numbers sixty-five. Each year the club is reorganized, with Mlle Weiss as sponsor.

Under the leadership of Mlle. Dorothy Brumond, the club flourished; held many interesting meetings and its members gained valuable knowledge of French customs and manners. They also gained greater poise in their French conversations, and, entre-nous, perhaps some pride in their linguistic ability. So, "Vive Le Cerle Français," and may next year's club be as happy and interesting an organization as the present one.

Slides are ever an important feature of Societas Latina, since they give us a clearer understanding of the life in the ancient Roman Empire. A group of talented students presented plays depicting the beliefs, daily life and customs of the Romans in "lingua Romanorum." The dress of a Roman family was shown to us by Andrew Cooke as the distinguished Roman of rank, Helen Gabris as the Roman lady and William Diver as the slave. A reading was given by Jane Patterson contrasting the apparently difficult Latin with our own English. Social functions were sponsored by the Societas Latina throughout the school year—functions which the members loyally and diligently supported. Such were the activities of the club in its fourth year of existence in W. T. H. S.

HISTORY CLUB

Early in the year many interested students met to form the History Club, and the large number attending prophesied a very successful year. It is interesting to note the growing popularity of this organization. The club of two years ago had only sixty members, last year there were seventy-five and at this meeting one hundred and seventy-five were assembled.

At this organization meeting plans were made for the election of officers, which, as this was to be a citizenship club, was held exactly like the city elections, namely nomination by a primary and then a final vote. The purpose of this club, as shown in the preamble of the newly adopted constitution, is to promote interest in the social studies and good citizenship.

As soon as the club was organized work was begun on the pageant. Although this entertainment was a far greater undertaking than any which had been attempted by any other club or single organization in this school, the group decided that if everyone assumed his part of the responsibility the project could not fail. The success of the pageant shows how well the plans were carried out.

The pageant was presented in the gymnasium, in February, to audiences totaling two thousand persons. There were thirty-three scenes, beginning with the founding of Jamestown and ending in the grand finale, the Americal Melting Pot. Beautiful and appropriate costuming, together with the proper lighting effects, made it a greater spectacle, while the accompanying music created an atmosphere in keeping with the action.

Much of the success of this production is due to the other departments of the school working in cooperation with the club. Among these were the orchestra, the glee clubs, the art, dramatics, domestic science, manual training and printing departments.

Although one of the newest clubs in the school, this organization is perhaps the most active; and the members all feel that their participation in it has been of no small benefit to them, as well as to the entire student body and the community.

"BUILDERS OF DEMOCRACY"

The pageant is now a thing of the past, but it will live in our memories as one of the most outstanding points of our high school careers. The success of this huge undertaking is due largely to the efforts of Mr. Hurd, who worked so painstakingly to see that all the details were minutely correct; and he was never too busy to stop to help or encourage us, individually. He had the whole-hearted cooperation of the students, faculty and townspeople. ## THE JUNIOR CHEMISTS

(Scholarship Essay Class)

Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States of America, in an address to the members of the American Chemical Society, at the White House, April 24, 1924 said, "Wherever we look, the work of the Chemist has raised the level of our civilization; and has increased the productive capacity of the nation." Everyone is beginning to realize more than ever before how essential to the future health, progress and safety of the nation is real chemical progress. Prior to the school year of 1927-1928, no constructive extra curricular chemical organization existed in our high school. Believing there was a phase and a demand for such an organization the Junior Chemists was founded in September, 1927. The Junior Chemists has as its objectives—the instilling of interest in and appreciation of the science of Chemistry, the maintaining of high scholarship requirements in that science, the developing of independent laboratory research and the study of the application of Chemistry to daily life. The group is governed by a constitution, which provides for the following officers—President, Vice-president, Secretary-Treasurer, and Librarian. From the above objectives, it can be seen that the program provides for no social activities,—but that the scope of the Junior Chemists is strictly scholastic. What, then, are its activities? Its members at each regular meeting contribute some independently-studied laboratory project. They also discuss current chemical literature, and many are preparing essays for the American Chemical Society's Prize Essay-Contest and the Garvan scholarship award. All are fired with a true scientific spirit, eager to know more of this fascinating science.

That this group has successfully passed through the uncertain period of "getting organized," and that it has become firmly established in the Science Department of W. T. H. S., is a source of great pride to those who have its interests closest at heart.

CABINET

In the early days of Little Fort, the women were thought to be of little importance, both in the civic and intellectual life of the community. Now, however, women are on an equal footing with the men. This fact is shown in one way by the schools.

The Girl Reserves is a branch organization of the Y. W. C. A. In this school there are two clubs, the Freshman club and the Senior club, which includes the three other classes. Both clubs meet the the Y. W. C. A. — the Freshman club weekly in afternoon meetings and the Senior club semi-monthly in supper meetings. At these meetings the girls enjoy interesting as well as instructive meetings. The Girl Reserves had charge of the Christmas giving for the poor. They are furnishing the patients of the Lake County Tubercular Hospital with daily papers and are doing other bits of service throughout the community. In short, they are attempting to live up to their motto, "to find and give the best."

HI-Y CLUB

President .....Eugene Schad
 Vice-President .....Thomas Smith
 Secretary.....Gilbert Richards
 Treasurer.....Kenneth Simpson

The settlers of Little Fort, after finding a fair spot in which to live, would gather together in quest of correct guidance of their moral as well as of their social desires. Carrying down the traditions and better intents of the settler, the Hi-Y club meets every Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. After a supper, the business of the club is taken up. It is the custom of the club to be addressed by some Waukegan citizen famed in arts, letters, trade or science, who is selected because he personifies the ideals of the founders of Little Fort. A discussion follows, led by the sponsors.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is "To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." The club has as its motto the four "C's:" "Clean Speech, Clean Athletics, Clean Scholarship and Clean Living."

The Hi-Y sent two of its members to the Older Boys' Conference at Rockford. Every member of the club is in some school activity and is selected, to some extent, on his scholarship merits. The Club seeks to be democratic and to bring together a certain amount of sociability and serious moral thinking.

GIRL ROOTERS

President.....Katie Wangman

Vice-President .....Nancy Sandstrom

Secretary-Treasurer.....Harriet Taylor

On November 10, 1927, an urgent request for loyal rooters of the High School, to meet at the Big Fort, the assembly, was convoked. "Porcupine and Democrat," (the daily notices) stated that Commander, Lieutenant and Quartermaster would be elected.

Many scouts, trappers and Indians were present at the first meeting. After a good deal of talking and debating, Scout Katie Wangman was elected Commander; Scout Nancy Sandstrom, Lieutenant; and Scout Harriet Taylor, Quartermaster.

First Row—A. Budrunas, A. Schroter, V. Miller, E. Pustaner, M. Macknick, S. Rose, Miss Huelster, H. Atterbery, J. Harris, E. De Young, M. Pitschman, E. Effinger, E. Lindahl. Second Row—S. Pucin, E. Immediately after the first meeting, the scouts and Campus Indians began tracking for original ideas pertaining to stunts and yells. Scout Nellie Cashmore led the Rooters in some fierce battle cries at the place of war, (the gym). Two faithful scouts dressed in the clothes of the football Indians staged a fake ball game at the "War Council" (Pep Meeting). Ten copper coins were traded in for new headwear, in the colors of Little Fort High School.

At Christmas, a large box of useful articles were presented to a trapper's poor family.

With the help of Mr. Jickling and Miss Huelster, the session for hunting and bagging victories was very successful.

DEBATE

Debate, that branch of the forensic art which is dealt with in inter-high school contests at Waukegan Township High School, has long been an active extra-curricular subject at W. T. H. S. For several years this school has been a member of the Illinois State High School Debating League. This League is composed of some eighty high schools throughout the state, which are divided into five districts—northern, southern, central, eastern and western. Waukegan, together with twelve other high schools in and around Chicago, is assigned to the northern district of the League. The manager of the I. H. S. D. L., Prof. Fred S. Sorrenson of the Illinois State Normal University at Normal, Illinois arranges for the selection of the question to be debated for the season. For the season 1928 the question selected was, "Resolved: That the Essential Features of the McNary-Haugen Bill Be Enacted into Federal Law." This is an exceedingly timely question and one that should, by its discussion, be of great value to the people of the farming state of Illinois.

Waukegan has been most successful with its results in former seasons. Up to the present season, the highest number of judges' decisions received in four inter-high school debates has been necessary to insure participation in a State tournament at Normal, Illinois. Last year Waukegan, in debating the question, "Resolved: That a Department of Education with a Secretary in the President's Cabinet should be Added to the Executive Department of the United States," lacked but one decision to enable it to participate in this state tournament. This season a change has been made in the plan of debating by having the four best schools in each district compete in an elimination contest, which will entitle the winning school to go to the state tournament.

It is the hope of all connected with debating this year that the Waukegan teams will win their way to the District and State tournaments for 1928.

DEBATE TEAM

There are two debating teams at the Waukegan Township High School, affirmative and negative, which debate both sides of the question selected by the Illinois State Debating League for discussion. The debate teams for this year are composed of:—

Negative

Howard Howe
Robert Coulson
William Loehr

Affirmative

Raymond Kolbe
Samuel Katz
William Kirby

The subject which these teams will debate is worded, "Resolved: That the Essential Features of the McNary-Haugen Bill Should be Enacted into Federal Law." This is an exceedingly difficult question, both teams relying upon their knowledge of economic laws and principles for their arguments.

The schedule for the debating season always provides for one debate at home for each team and one debate away from home for each team. For 1928, the Negative opened the season at home with the affirmative team from Morton Township High School as opponents, on March 7th. Two days later the Waukegan Affirmative team traveled to Austin High School of Chicago and debated the Austin Negative. This completed the first series of debates. Two weeks later, March 23, the Waukegan Affirmative was heard at home in a debate with the Chicago Heights High School Negative, while on the same night the Waukegan Negative debated Chicago Heights Affirmative at Chicago Heights, thus bringing the season to a close.

The holding of a District tournament in each of the five Districts of the League is a new procedure in determining the State Champions. With this added contest at District Headquarters (for Waukegan, DeKalb, Illinois) between the four highest teams in the District the right to participate at Normal, Illinois for State honors will be of far more consequence.

During the season the affirmative team won over Austin by a 2-1 decision, and over Bloom by a 3-0 decision. The negative team won debates against Morton and Bloom by decisions of 3-0. This earned for the teams 11 out of a possible 12 judge's decisions, and thus enabled Waukegan to compete in the district eliminations at DeKalb, on April 30th.

THE BAND

During the closing months of 1927 a renewed interest was shown in the band's playing ability, as the State band concert, to be held at Aurora and then at Urbana, and the Lions' Club convention to be held at Herrin, were drawing near. The boys, moreover, were becoming daily more skillful in the art of using their instruments, under the directorship of their able commander, Mr. Graham.

When the results of the above meets were announced, it was found that the band had won, at Aurora, first place in marching and second place in ensemble concert work; at Urbana that they didn't fare so well, where the first three winners placed among the five winners of the national band concert, and at Herrin, to show their thanks to the Lions' Club for taking them to Herrin, that they had won first place, the last achievement of note of the band of '27.

The boys who were graduating were given gold, silver and bronze pins—denoting, respectively four, three, and two years' work in the band. Granville Sands was awarded the Lions' Club pin for being of the most benefit to the band, as well as for keeping up his scholarship and his musical ability. Several of the graduating boys won considerable honor in the soloist contests, among them being Gerald Gold and Dayle Sayler.

This year many new recruits, members of last year's cornet and clarinet classes, which Mr. Graham, who is always looking into the future, had had put into the daily school program as an extra curricular subject, and others started work in the band; more came from the mid-year changes. Active work was started at once, in preparation for the coming annual band and state band concerts. Mr. A. Strauss, a noted cornetist, was the soloist for this year's concert. Sectional rehearsals were held after school hours and evenings in order to improve the tonal balance—one of the requisites in ensemble playing.

Some of the more advanced boys had the opportunity of playing in the National High School band. A few members of the 1927 band made a remarkable showing.

The boys endeavored to better the records established by preceding bands—records which are distinctly enviable; and, accordingly, turned out for all the games and undertakings of the school and townspeople in which they were asked to share. On these occasions they put into the hearts of the people the spirit for which Waukegan High is so famed.

It is to be hoped that their earnestness and diligence will be repaid by a record which the bands of years to come may find difficult to uphold.

FRANK BRENCE, '28.

BAND DANCE

The Fifth Annual Band Dance proved to be one of the most successful social functions of the year.

The new gym was beautifully decorated with crepe paper streamers, so arranged as to conceal the beams and transform the gym into a beautiful ballroom. Music was furnished by Joe Elrich and his ten-piece Allerton Hotel orchestra. The dance was attended by more couples than in previous years, because outsiders were invited.

The band boys and their director, Otto Graham, deserve much credit for the success of so great an undertaking. Those directly in charge of the dance were George Stenger, decorations; Clarence Wigell, floor; Paul Jolley, music; Walter Kahila, reception; David Eisenberg, finance.

ORCHESTRA

All thru the history of mankind, we find reference to music. Think back into the past of our own community, when Waukegan was known as Little Fort, and was only a trading post. Has there been a time when it was without music, or so-called music, of any kind?

And so it is with our high school. As it grows, so does our music department, and not the least important organization of this department is the orchestra. 'Tis true, that heretofore the orchestra has not been in the limelight; but, under the able leadership of Mr. Graham, we have high hopes for the future of the W. T. H. S. orchestra.

The orchestra furnished the music for the gigantic pageant "Builders of Democracy." This was a great undertaking, as it included a concert before the pageant as well as the overtures and incidental music.

The orchestra meets every fourth period in the band room; and, like the street bands of the past, it makes some discords. Unlike those bands, however, it makes some very harmonious music. When everyone is present we have a full instrumentation, which is a thing to be proud of in a school of this size.

THE GIRLS' GLEE CLUB AND CHORUS

The interest in music, and especially vocal music, has been steadily increasing among our students. During the past year, under the efficient direction of Mr. G. Schumann, there have been several musical organizations functioning: the Advanced Girls' Glee Club, the Beginning Girls' Glee Club, the Freshmen Chorus and Boys' Glee Club.

These various groups have furnished splendid music for the student body and for people of the city as well. At the seasons of Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter they gave fine programs for the entertainment of the school. Only the best music is presented by these boys and girls, and Mr. Schumann has taught them to appreciate the beautiful and worth-while things in music.

The Advanced Girls' Club sang, by request, at various Business Men's Clubs in town. On February 10, they gave their Third Annual Concert. The program was as follows:

THE DRAMA CLUB

Among the new activities at our school this year is the Drama Club. This club was organized for the benefit of those who were unable to enter the Dramatics classes and for the purpose of creating an appreciation for better plays; also, for the acting of them, and it has a waiting list of twenty-one. Miss Dunn is the sponsor; Peyton Atterbery, President; Erskine Edwards, Vice-president; Tekla Wainio, Secretary-Treasurer; Violet Homac, Reporter; George Todd and Howard Howe, Sergeants-at-Arms.

As the first entertainer of the year we brought Miss Kling, who lectured for the morning assembly and in the evening head two one-act plays, "Happiness," Percival Wilde, and "The Finger of God," J. Hartesky Manners.

Following is the program for Lincoln's Day:

|                              |                 |
|------------------------------|-----------------|
| Chairman.....                | Erskine Edwards |
| Invocation.....              | Rev. Beach      |
| "The Voice of Lincoln".....  | Nellie Cashmore |
| "At Least I'll Try".....     | Eugene Graham   |
| Solo, "Abraham Lincoln"..... | Mr. Cole        |
| "The Perfect Tribute".....   | Evelyn Haese    |

A novel stunt was the giving of two separate programs—the girls', headed by Margaret Booth and the boys', headed by Lawrence Thompson. The boys attempted to excel the girls' vodvil Stunts by a Minstrel Show, but as to who carried the honors it could not be decided.

Edith Merchant, at the head of an efficient committee, put on an appropriate Mothers' Day Program in May. An entertaining number was the presentation of a short one-act play, "Mother Pays." The cast was:

|                              |                  |
|------------------------------|------------------|
| Mother .....                 | Dorothy Brumond  |
| Tessie.....                  | Impi Johnson     |

| Bob Campbell.....            | Stewart Whyte    |

With this as the starting program the Club has set a mark which we hope the succeeding years of its activity will try to follow.

THE SENIOR PLAY

A great deal of argument, debate and hard work went into the selection of the Senior Play and at last the day on which the chosen play, "The Torch Bearers," was announced and the momentous day of tryouts arrived. All-aspiring Mrs. Ritters and Mrs. Pampinellies; tall and short Mr. Ritters, as well as the giggling aspirants for Nellie Fell were there.

These were but a few of the many good characters in "The Torch Bearers," by George Kelly. Mr. Kelly classes his play as a satirical comedy. A satire it is on every quirk of human nature.

Mr. Ritter arrives home unexpectedly from a business trip and is dismayed to find his wife has joined a Little Theatre Movement which is under the direction of Mrs. Pampinelli and her coterie. The subsequent events deal with the rehearsals, the play given by the group and the culminating event, Mr. Ritter's breakdown, which he attributes to "having seen his wife act." Mrs. Ritter, elated by her success, plans to leave her husband and follow her "career." Mr. Ritter diplomatically dissuades her and she decides to remain at home and "live happily ever after."

The play was given at the Majestic theatre, with great success, by the following cast:

R. O. T. C.

As long as history has been recorded, in Little Fort as well as in other communities, we find great stress laid on self-defense. The World War found us unprepared in this respect and taught us a lesson, which we learned only by needless warfare and bloodshed. Our country needs stalwart, well-disciplined men to command her army, in order that she may be protected.

Today we have the R. O. T. C., a department which teaches the high school boy the theory and practice of military training. This knowledge, in case of emergency, will enable him to be better prepared to serve his country.

In our school, under the able leadership of Captain Lloyd and Sergeant Holly, we try to cultivate a military atmosphere. Military discipline, military games, military drilling and military courtesy all help to do this. All assemblies and pep meetings are opened in true military fashion. In the companies, competition is held between cadets and cadet officers, both commissioned and non-commissioned. Medals, as a reward for neatness and proficiency, are given to the best cadet in each company, including the two companies of mid-sophomores, of the best file closer, guide, platoon leader and top sergeant in the battalion.

Military training has existed for a number of years in Waukegan High School and will exist until self-defense is no longer needed.

RIFLE TEAM

The Rifle team of 1927, consisting of Captain Dewey Lewis, Robert DuPuis, Ralph Mosher, Paul Short and Edward Tompkins, for the third time won the coveted Hearst trophy. This trophy is given by William Randolph Hurst to the winner in the national rifle match, in which many schools and colleges all over the United States compete. In order to get permanent possession of the cup, it must be won for three consecutive years.

In 1924, Waukegan's rifle team won it for the first time, and for the next two years the teams held it so that now Waukegan is its permanent possessor.

Last year, a second team was also entered in this same meet, and placed twelfth, which is a very remarkable showing. This team furnishes excellent material upon which to build next year's team, for most of the members are Sophomores or Juniors. The men on the second team were Deloss Scott, Gilbert Richards, Kenneth Simpson, Karl Kramer and William Smith.

This year's first team is composed of Capt. Paul Short, William Smith, George Sloan, John Thaxter and Irving Lamson. The second team are Stanley Manual, Ted Ponzio, Karl Kramer, Gilbert Richards and Clarence Russell. They have won a match from Rockford by a score of 3621 to 3345 out of 4000 points.

A team composed of G. Sloan, G. Richards, I. Lamson, W. Smith, J. Thaxter, S. Manual, C. Russell, K. Kramer, P. Short and A. Thaxter fired in the sixth corps area match and made a total of 3565 points out of a possible 4000.

The rifle teams are firing on a new range under the new gym, and as artificial light is used this makes conditions different from previous years, thus affecting their firing.

Seated—R. Fuchs, M. Levandusky, D. Brumund, G. Richards, F. Lewis, F. Ullry, J. Drobnick, Standing—Mr. Jickling.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

This year, as before, the Athletic Association has occupied a prominent position among the organizations of the Waukegan Township High School.

Owing to the impossibility of conducting regular meetings of an organization comprising so many students, students were selected to represent their respective classes, together with Mr. Jickling from the faculty on the Athletic Executive Committee. The Senior Class was represented by Frances Lewis, secretary of the Athletic Association; Franklin Ullrey, chairman of publicity committee, and Richard Lux, chairman of poster committee; the Junior Class by Gilbert Richards, president of the organization and Dorothy Brumund, vice-president; the Sophomores by Marie Levandusky; and the Freshmen by Jerry Drobnie.

The work of the poster committee is worthy of special mention. The committee is composed of Richard Lux, Clifford Foster, Peyton Atterbery, Leo Krause, Andrew Effinger, Edward Thornton, Ailcen Shea, Impi Johnson, Ruth Soronen, Civia Schiff.

This year, owing to our fine gym and the keen interest in athletics taken by students, the sale of season football and basketball tickets went over the top. In addition to the annual football home coming and the Football banquet, this organization sponsored many fine after-game dances, which, besides furnishing good music for the students in the way of entertainment, proved to be very successful in all other respects.

Thus passes another worth while year for the Athletic Association, and, indeed, for the whole school—a year that can be looked back upon as a very successful period of work well done.

S. DOROTHY BRUMUND, '29.

CAPTAIN GEORGE MILLS

George was one of the mainstays of this year's team. His good leadership and steady playing cannot be praised too much. His season's record for punting was as good as that of the average college punter.

LEO PORETT

Although Leo did not carry the ball much, his good tackling on defense and his vicious blocking on offense helped his team mates run up the score.

EUGENE SCHAD

"Gene" played a steady game at guard. He was always ready to go when the whistle blew, and could always be counted on to get his man. The strength of the Waukegan line was due in a great measure to "Gene's" efforts.

NATHAN GORDON

He was always good for five yards. He played his best game of the season against Bloom. Nate played in every game, and led the backfield men in total yardage gained, which was 760 yards.

CAPTAIN-ELECT JOE LEVANDUSKY

"Yassil" was one of the fastest men on the squad, and led the team in the scoring column. Although he was lighter than the average backfield man, he was a good defensive man. Joe was awarded a position on the second all-suburban team.

JOHN DICKSHOT

Although this was John's first year out for football, he played a good game. His ability to recover fumbles made him indispensable to the team.

LEO PALUCIUS

"Sticky finger Palucius" Coach Green called him at the banquet. He certainly can catch passes if they are anywhere near him.

WILLIAM BYARS

"Big Bill" played in the backfield this year and was a tower of strength. He was given honorable mention on the all-state team this year.

WALTER BUDRUNAS

"Whitie" was always ready to go when he got the chance. He was a factor in many of Waukegan's victories.

EVERETT BENSON

Benson did not play much, but he earned his letter. He was always put into the game at crucial moments. He was the most reliable and accurate passer on the team.

WILLIAM KIRBY

Bill's ability and value were shown to all in the Evanston game, when he intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Coach Green certainly hates to see Bill leave in June. Kirby was selected as end on the first all-suburban team.

WILLIAM HAMPSON

"Bill" played at one of the guard positions. He was always in the thick of the battle.

ALVIN BOWERS

To "Al" goes the title, "The scrappiest man on the squad." By the end of the season he had just perfected his ability to "smack 'em hard." His loss will be keenly felt by Coach Green.

GILBERT LINDGREN

This was "Gil's" first year on the team and he played well. He is a Sophomore, and we predict greater things for Lindgren in the next two years.

HAROLD MAKI

This was "Big Maki's" first year on the heavyweight squad. He was a mainstay of the center of the line. He has two more years.

WALTER SPOOR

"Wallie," one of the biggest men on the squad, did not join the heavyweights until the middle of the season. His ability was apparent almost immediately, and he played regularly from then on. He is also a Sophomore.

LEO SINGER.

HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL

A victory over Evanston closed one of the most successful football seasons a Waukegan team has ever had. The success of the past season was made possible by the untiring efforts of Coach V. J. Green.

On September 8, the first call for football was greeted by about 150 prospects. From this group Coach Green selected about thirty men for the 'varsity squad. There were five letter men back from last year's team, and with these as a nucleus Coach Green put a team on the field ready to meet all opposition.

After three weeks of strenuous practice, Waukegan met the heavy Lake View team of Chicago. After a hard fight, Waukegan came out at the winning end of an 8 to 0 score. Lake View played much harder than it had in previous years.

On Oct. 1, we played one of Chicago's best teams. The Purple and Gold ran up the largest score of the season, trouncing Waller 40 to 6. Levandusky and Gordon were the scoring stars for this game, scoring five touchdowns between them.

Our first league game was played with Bloom on Oct. 8. Waukegan played its best game against the Chicago Heights team. Bloom lost to the tune of 14 to 6, and it was their only defeat of the season.

On Oct. 15, the Purple and Gold traveled to Kenilworth for a game with New Trier. This game was one of the most exciting ever played by a Waukegan team, but we managed to win by the scant margin of 7 to 6. This spoiled New Trier's Homecoming, and also marred their season's record, as this was the only game they lost.

Waukegan next played Kankakee on Oct. 22, minus the services of "Bill" Byars. Our team scored only 7 points the first half, but fought a little harder the second half and defeated Kankakee by the decisive score of 26 to 0.

On Oct. 29, Waukegan met the heavy Proviso team, which more nearly resembled a college aggregation than a high school team. The Proviso team decisively outplayed Waukegan. Fleize and Capt. Schultz were their outstanding players. The only chance Waukegan had for a touchdown came in the first quarter, when they marched down the field to Proviso's 36-yard line, but lost the ball on downs. The final score was 31 to 2.

The following week Waukegan traveled to Morton High School, minus the services of Levandusky and Lindgren. Waukegan lost 12 to 7, but was not outplayed. Captain Mills played a very good game in spite of an injury to his knee. "Lavvy" Palucius had a good day catching passes. He caught 6 for a gain of about 90 yards.

The last game for those of the players who were Seniors was played against our deadly rival, Evanston, on Nov. 19, at home. After a fake kickoff, Waukegan made a steady march down the field to Evanston's 27-yard line. On the next play, Byars plunged through the line, and with perfect interference scored a touchdown. Late in the last quarter Kirby intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for another score. About two minutes later Joe Levandusky ran around end for the final touchdown. It was the first time that Evanston had been defeated by a Waukegan team since 1908.

At the Annual football banquet held in the High School cafeteria the following men received major awards: Seniors: Capt. George Mills, Nathan Gordon, Leo Porett, William Kirby, Eugene Schad, Alvin Bowers, Walter Budrunas, William Hampson, John Dickshot, and Everett Benson; underclassmen, Capt.-elect Joe Levandusky, Wm. Byars, Harold Maki, Leo Palucius, Walter Spoor, and Gilbert Lindgren.

The following men played with the heavyweight squad, but not enough to receive major awards, and therefore were given minor letters: Clarence Klarkowski, Webster Perzigian, Robert Krotzer, Beaman Peterson, Richard Drew, Joe Singer, Emmet Johnson, Raymond Kolbe and Ray Maki. With six letter men returning and new men coming up from the other teams, Coach Green should turn out another winning team.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

It is a generally accepted fact that a football team can fight harder and play better before large crowds. If this is true, the followers of football at Waukegan High School never did see the lightweights at their best during the 1927 season. However, in spite of the poor support, the lightweights made a very creditable showing, losing only to those schools whose heavies defeated our varsity. Since the team was made up of 5 Sophomores, 6 Juniors and 4 Seniors, we may anticipate more than three touchdowns for our lights during the 1928 season.

Waukegan's 7-0 victory over DesPlaines was followed by a 13-6 victory over the Libertyville second heavies. After a 0-0 tie with New Trier, Waukegan met Proviso's lights, and was defeated 19-0. The season ended with a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Morton High school of Cicero.

The letter men: Stenget, capt.; Bagdonas, Martins, Gostisha, Litz, Tiernan, Waite, Scott, Petticord, Bogosian, Mesec, F., Mesec, A., Bearman, Jakaitis, Hladnick, Harding.

ROBERT COULSON.

| Waukegan | .....32 | New Trier   | .....26 |

With this record of fourteen victories and two defeats, the heavies closed their official playing season. They had lost to Evanston and to New Trier, both of which defeats they avenged later in the season. They had defeated several of Chicago's best teams and had triumphed over several downstate teams. Under Coach Brown's guardianship, the heavies have not only upheld Waukegan's reputation of previous years, but have added greater laurels. The team has been the most successful ever to represent Waukegan, advancing to the finals of the sectional tournament, and losing only to that school which later became a prominent contender for the state title.

During the regular playing season, the team averaged ten points better than any of its opponents. In the District Tournament which followed, Waukegan met some of the best teams in the mythical suburban league, and its average was even better.

WAUKEGAN IN THE TOURNAMENTS

In the first round of the tournament, Waukegan met New Trier, and won 26-15. Libertyville next fell before Waukegan's attack 41-15. In the semi-final game with Antioch, Waukegan almost met disaster, winning with difficulty in an overtime period 26-22. In the final game, Waukegan met Maine, which had conquered Evanston in the first round. The Des Plaines boys were decisively beaten 38-23, and the locals thus obtained the right to attend the Sectional Meet held at Joliet, March 15, 16 and 17.

Our first opponent in this meet was Kankakee, a team which Waukegan had defeated twice before in the season. Waukegan won 44-10 before over 300 Waukegan rooters. After a night of festivity for the rooters and rest for the players, the team met La Grange, which also fell before Waukegan's attack 32-18. Up to this time, the team had been working smoothly, with flawless passing and accurate shooting. Waukegan was conceded an edge over West Aurora, which we were to meet in the finals. West Aurora, however, displayed unusual basketball, scoring from all angles of the floor. Waukegan seemed unable to hold down the score, and West Aurora won 28-11. There is no explanation. The team may have been disheartened by a few doubtful decisions, but on any other day could have won.

The tournament squad was composed of Captain Palucius, Lindgren, Ryckman, Budrunas, Mills, Maki, Levandusky, Manneback, Peterson and Dickshot. Of these, the school will lose Budrunas, Mills, Dickshot and Peterson. However, with six of these coming back, it is hoped that Coach Brown can form another championship team.

LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

The 1927 lightweights had a very successful season, from the standpoint of victories, winning twelve games and losing four.

After two weeks of practice Coach Green picked the team, consisting of Vandermeulen and Scott, forwards, Kilponen, center, and Klarkowski and Litz, guards. This team was greatly helped by Palo, Harding, Staben and Purcell.

The first game of the season, a contest with Calumet High, resulted in a 30-23 victory for the locals. The next game was a disastrous 20-16 defeat at the hands of Roosevelt High School of Chicago. The lights made amends for this by outpointing Morgan Park, 27-15. This, however, was offset in a heart-breaking contest with Harrison Tech, of Chicago, at the end of which the visitors were leading, 24-23. Improving all along, and gaining momentum as they continued, the lights won six straight games, lost one, won three more, suffered their fourth defeat and then triumphed in their final encounter. They defeated Kenosha twice, 29-11 and 25-20; outpointed Evanston 24-20; Deerfield 24-14; demonstrated their superiority over Proviso 26-13 and over Des Plaines 35-17; and was outpointed, but by no means outplayed, by New Trier, 17-15. The next week the team was again in invincible form, beating Racine 35-12. Evanston again fell before the locals 23-18. Des Plaines was again overwhelmed 25-17. The lights then suffered their fourth defeat at the hands of Deerfield's lightweights. The season ended in a triumph over New Trier 20-15. It was the first time any lightweight team from Waukegan had ever beaten one representing New Trier. Although the lights lost four games, each of these was a hard struggle, with Waukegan never more than four points behind. Waukegan is justly proud of her lightweight aggregation.

It has generally been the custom of sport writers to pass over graduating members of a team as being those without whom the team had just as cheerful prospects as with them. With this year's lights, however, there is an entirely different situation, with Klarkowski, Pale, Staben and Captain Kilponen being lost to the school by graduation.

ARTHUR KILPONEN.

BASEBALL

When the call for baseball men went out last spring the prospects for a winning team were only fair. Captain Wangman, a veteran pitcher and two catchers were all that remained from the 1926 team that had won 13 games while losing 3. However, there were several good infielders coming up from the second squad and hopes for another championship began to crop up among the optimists.

Then the jinx began to work, both veteran catchers were declared ineligible. The scholastic ax fell again and catcher No. 3 was thru, and then still another catcher went out with a broken thumb. Catchers were at a premium.

The team started auspiciously enough and won 5 straight games, though the lineup was being juggled constantly to find a combination which would function like a ball club should. Then came Evanston and the first defeat by a 6-5 score. Captain Wangman allowed only 3 hits, but the team was erratic, unsteady, and lacked the veterans to hold them up.

After Evanston came Proviso and perhaps the best ball game any Waukegan team has every played. Wangman pitched hitless ball, only 15 men faced him in 5 innings, but a scratch single in the 6th robbed him of a no-hit, no-run game. The final score was Waukegan, 2; Proviso, 0. The weak Waukegan infield handled 15 chances without an error.

The rest of the season was just what you would expect of a green team, playing wonderful ball one game and falling completely to pieces the next. The veteran Racine team, with the great Borgenson in the box was given its first setback in 4 years by a score of 5-4. Mills allowed them only 5 hits. However, later in the season Racine secured sweet revenge to a tune of 12-2. Then Waukegan lost to Deerfield and Evanston, outhitting them 2 to 1, but erratic fielding threw away the games.

The season reached a successful ending when Decatur, the Big Twelve champions, were defeated 5-3.

Wangman and Mills pitched good ball all season allowing an average of slightly less than 5 hits a game, but the team was too inexperienced to hold up under fire. Mannebach, 1927, captain elect, Mills and Levandusky all hit over .400 for the season.

This season finds a veteran infield and Waukegan should cause all opposition plenty of trouble.

TRACK

Spring of 1927

The indoor season of 1927 was a successful one for Waukegan Township high school. Johnson and Wenhe in the pole vault, Peristy and Gordon in the hurdles, Warren in the quarter mile and Lindall in the mile. The performance of these men was excellent. Through a series of dual, triangular and quadrangular meets they came finally to the climax of the track season—the interscholastic meet at Urbana. Against the cream of the state Waukegan showed up well. Lindall took the mile in the record-breaking time of 4.34  $\frac{2}{5}$ . Warren won third in the 440-dash and Peristy took a close second in the high hurdles. The total points gave Waukegan fourth place in the State meet.

CROSS COUNTRY & TRACK

Track has the longest duration of any sport. It begins when school convenes in September and ends in June, about a week after school is out. It takes patience, determination and individual ability to make a success in this sport. The length of the season makes it necessary that a track man conserve his strength and develop himself gradually so as to be in the pink of condition when the day of competition arrives. It is no small job to be a good track man, and it is something that cannot be accomplished in a twinkling.

When the call was issued for candidates for cross-country men last fall (1927), some 30 or 40 boys responded. Since the course of a cross-country race is rugged and hard, many fell by the wayside. Others, however, persisted, and a team was formed, consisting of George Lehto, Harry La Count, Andrew Cooke and Louis Klass. These men competed in four meets—a dual meet with Morton, which resulted in a tie; a dual meet with La Grange, which we lost 18 to 25; an invitational meet at Streator, where Waukegan took third place; and a meet at Knox College, Galesburg, where Waukegan took eighth place. Cross-country is good training for distance men and as such the season of 1927 was very successful.

BOY'S SWIMMING

Coach Morley's swimming squad was not all that might have been expected from a school so near Lake Michigan, and having such natural encouragement.

Since this was the first year Waukegan has even entered a swimming team in previous team, and Coach Morley was faced with the problem of organization as well as the numerous events held in this vicinity, there were no experienced men from any with training.

The first meet entered by representatives of this school was held at the Illinois Athletic Club, Dec. 1, 1927. Four Waukegan boys entered, but Lima was the only one to place, winning third in the 220 yard free style, for which he received a bronze medal.

After a period of hard training, the local splashers entertained the Kenosha team. The first meet ever held in the new pool did not go to Waukegan, but was won by Kenosha 36-25, with the juniors also losing 42-19. This was on December 17, 1927.

On January 7, the locals traveled to Kenosha, and again suffered defeat 38-23 and 44-17. Both Waukegan and Kenosha played water polo for the first time, with Waukegan winning 4-1.

The first victory for Waukegan was on Jan. 13, when they overwhelmed Deerfield 41-19. The juniors lost 31-13. This meet was held at Waukegan, as was the next—a disastrous 45-15 defeat at the hands of Maine township High School. The juniors again lost 45-7.

On Feb. 18th, Deerfield avenged her previous defeat by swamping Waukegan 39-16 for the seniors and 32-14 for the juniors. This ended the series of dual meets, but representatives of this school attended the university of Chicago meet, where Lima placed third in the 100 yard breast stroke, winning a silver medal.

Finally, at the National Interscholastic Meet, held at the Illinois Athletic Club, Lima captured first place in the 100 yard breast stroke, gaining sixth place for Waukegan.

With this showing for the first year, Coach Morley feels that he has every reason to expect much greater achievements for the coming years.

FRESHMAN ATHLETICS

Several athletes from the Freshman class made themselves valuable to the school by their ability in various forms of athletics. In fact, on Dec. 6th, the Freshmen impressed the Juniors and Seniors rather forcibly by beating them out for second place in the inter class swimming meet. Just before this, during the football season disaster had overwhelmed Captain Daley and his teammates. The Frosh conquered Gurnee, tied Evanston, lost to Evanston and then dropped two to Lake Forest.

There were 27 letter-men on the Freshman football team: Daley, Clemens, Alexander, Daydif, Benson, Drabnick, Brown, Eberlein, Caldwell, Follensbee, McGarrahan, Gibbons, Goodman, Gould, Moore, Ohanian, Sabomjian, Scott, Singer, Stump, Witzak, Wright, Hucker, Diver, Thomas, Kapter and Largent. Nine of these joined by Morstead, formed the frosh basketball squad, while Daley and Daydif went to the varsity lights. The frosh dropped one game to Antioch and one to Allendale, but have return games scheduled with both schools.

Several Freshmen were a credit to their class in track, while a few are out for baseball. The Freshmen promise that next year the Purple and Gold will find it almost impossible to have a successful team without including many members of the class of 1931.

This year Coach Morley supervised the Freshman football and basketball teams, besides coaching the swimmers, and much of the credit for the success of these teams is to be given to him for his efforts.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

In the fall of the year a Girls' Athletic Association was organized, and became affiliated with the Illinois League of High School Athletic Associations. The aim of our association is to promote greater interest in girls' athletic activities by sponsoring athletic tournaments at the close of each season.

Awards are given by the State League and the Association for points earned through athletic activity in school and out of school, providing the recipient has kept the training rules for sixteen weeks. Six hundred points are required for the first award, the "W." This award and the second, for which six hundred additional points are required, are given by the Association. When sixteen hundred points are scored, the League award is given, and when two thousand points have been earned, the official emblem of the league is awarded.

Every girl in the high school interested in athletics was a tentative member of the Association during a probation period of twelve weeks, during which time one hundred points were to have been scored. At the end of this period, those having earned the required number of points were received into membership and officers were elected. The officers were: President, Helen Wilmot; Vice-president, Ruth Ohlin; Secretary-treasurer, Margaret Guerin. Publicity and Social committees were appointed by the executive board.

The first social undertaking of the year was a party given at the end of the soccer season. This was followed by a dance given at the close of the District basketball tournament.

The awards were presented at a picnic given at the end of the year. These awards were so much sought after that it is certain that there will be a greater number of girls out for them next year.

GIRLS' HIKING

After the students had accustomed themselves to the school routine, the girls started the first of their after-school activities—hiking. In all, about fifty enthusiastic girls reported for the first hike. As usual, the Freshman girls were present in far greater numbers than the girls of any other class.

The first hike was made via Washington street to a forest preserve at the intersection of Belvidere street and Telegraph road. As soon as we arrived there, weenies were started roasting on the first fire that was built. Then several girls ventured to near-by farmhouses, in a vain search for drinking water. This was provided later by an obliging farmer.

After this hike, others were made, and each seemed better than the preceding one. These hikes were sponsored by our able coach, Miss Rundquist, and our new athletic instructor, Miss Huelster. Any girl who participated in one of these hikes will readily attest to their success, and express her appreciation of the efforts of the sponsors.

SOCCKER

A chief pastime for the maidens of Little Fort was Soccer. There were four teams, one for each class, with the exception of the Junior-Senior team, which was joined.

Each of the teams was headed by an efficient captain. The Junior and Seniors were headed by Helen Wilmot, a brave and daring player. The Sophomores picked for their leader Elizabeth Farmer. Anna Carlson was the leader of the advanced Freshman class and Jane Jenkinson for the New Freshman class.

Many and fierce were the games played on the battlefield of the Fort. The Junior-Senior team was the victorious team, having a perfect score. All the girls who took part in the games were awarded with G. A. A. points. This was a new way to earn the big prize, a "W".

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Girls' basketball was rejuvenated this year in W. T. H. S. This was the first year that every class has been represented by a full team. Practices were held twice a week in the old gym for about eight weeks. Class teams were chosen from those who came out regularly for practice. There were seven teams in all, one for each of the three upper classes and two for both freshman groups. Each team had its own color, the seniors, of course, having first choice. The tournament lasted three weeks, there being three games played every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon. The climax came in the last game between the juniors and seniors. The Juniors won, but were not champions as they had been defeated by the freshies. The girl basketeters wish to thank Miss Huelster and Miss Rundquist for their active cooperation in making this year's tournament a success.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

The god Neptune, ruling the water with his triton and horn, holds the greatest delight for each one of us. To dive into the water, with the waters splashing about, is one of the greatest thrills one can experience.

This pool, which has been given to us by our generous school board, has afforded us a great deal of pleasure during the last year.

At the beginning of the school year, teams were organized to represent each class. The first girls' swimming meet was held in December. This the Sophomores won, with the Seniors close behind. The Freshman girls beat out the Juniors for third place.

Every girl should learn to swim. Swimming is coming to be one of the most popular sports in every high school. With a pool as lovely as the one we have, every girl should swim at least once a week.

Personality in the Handshake

Since we are not permitted to know intimately, or often see, most of our acquaintances, we must form an opinion of his or her character in the few moments we are with them. It cannot be denied that we form some opinion of everyone we meet. It may change or it may be firm and lasting. Since we meet most people but once, and then just for a few words and a handshake, it can easily be seen that to make a good impression we must convey to them some feeling in our handshake if we wish to have them form a good impression of us.

There is nothing which stamps a person as being either a gentleman or rude ignoramus more than his handshake. He changes his clothes and looks different, but in his grasp of your hand he shows his real self. A speaker may ramp and rave on his favorite subject, but if in a meeting with him he holds your hand with some pressure, you feel that his speech was not one of a fanatic but one of a man who sincerely believes in the things he has said.

A man may appear upright and honest, but a weak and clammy handshake, given while the eyes and mind are somewhere else, will open a hole for dislike and distrust to creep in.

Nothing illustrates the importance of a good handshake more than the true story of a southern senator who, at the height of southern success in the Civil War, came to the capital, now that the southern cause seemed likely to triumph, to see if Lincoln would not accede to terms of peace. He was escorted to Lincoln's little office, where he heard Lincoln receive reports of further losses to the Union cause. The senator felt confident of accomplishing his mission, as he saw no hope for the northern army. Lincoln's appearance that day, in an old dark suit which seemed hardly older or darker looking than his face, further encouraged the southern envoy. However, Lincoln was too busy to talk with him at the time and merely shook hands with him, promising an appointment for the following day.

It is a significant fact that, although the man had met Lincoln but once and then just to shake his hand, he telegraphed that same night to the Confederate capital that peace was impossible. In his grasp of the other man's hand, Lincoln had transmitted enough of his fearless spirit in the face of overwhelming odds to convince the senator that here was one who would never give up.

Making Excuses

If some inquisitive statistician should investigate the art of excuse-making, he would discover, strange to say, that many people have in them unsuspected inpromptu speaking ability. Why, it is even said that some of our most noted lawyers' first cases were those of excuses. The amount of energy expended in the simple acts of clearing the throat before speaking would suffice to operate all the stop and go signs in Chicago for nine months.

As some people say, "according to Hoyle," there are several ways of making excuses. The person who is brazen and can invent a flimsy excuse should be placed upon a pedestal higher than Napoleon's. The gift of gab, my dear reader, is more rare than you might suppose in the male world of today. I say male world, for, of course, all women have it; or, at least, you would be led to believe so by their perpetual and incessant flow of chatter.

It is my firm belief that the first university or correspondence school to put into its curriculum a comprehensive course in the art of excuse making will be long remembered.

Advice to Freshman

Attention, September Freshmen! I'm going to give you a few "tips" about your behavior when you enter high school.

First of all, and probably the most important, you know that you must always be courteous to your superiors. This is a rule that should be very strictly observed.

Second, never let your walking exceed five miles an hour. Woe be unto him who dares run up and down the corridors or stairs.

"And another thing," as Andy Gump says, "Don't you ever be late to school or to your classes!" If this happens you are sent to the "Office," where a formidable "secretary" will sternly hand you a yellow slip, which means—"Oh, never mind, you'll find out later!"

Gum-chewing is, of course, never allowed. The punishment for this offense is "frightful."

The teachers in this school will not tolerate any excuse for handing in your work two minutes late! If you should (great emphasis on this last word) be so unfortunate as to be guilty of this crime you would be made to do double the amount of work every day of the following week.

In short, know everything in your lesson perfectly, even though an assignment consists of twenty pages.

Last, but not least, I'm just going to give you a few minor points.

1. Always have your costume ready for gym.
2. Stay in line at the cafeteria.
3. Don't whisper in any of your classes.

One Of Nature's Unsolved Mysteries

My companion and I were driving along one of the well-kept-up roads in Alberta, south of the far-famed Banff-Windemere Highway in the Canadian Rockies. It seemed as if my cup of joy was running over. A good car, wonderful roads, ideal weather, and on all sides the most wonderful mountain scenery in the world. What more could I desire? The splendor was so overwhelming that words failed me; I looked at my companion and she too was too enraptured to speak.

We sped on thus for some time enjoying Dame Nature's wonderland. I don't know how long we went on in this manner; but suddenly, upon nearing a curve, I became aware of a feeling of gloom and indescribable loneliness. Looking at my companion, I saw that she too felt what words can not fittingly express. Unconsciously, she slowed down as we rounded the curve and we beheld before us as gloomy and desolate, as forsaken and lonely a place as I ever hope to see. The whole valley floor was buried beneath rocks of all sizes, gray and ominous looking. Not a word passed between us as we entered the silent valley.

At this point the silence was broken by my friend. "Perhaps something has been blasted," she volunteered in an unconvincing manner. Then, noticing that I didn't answer, she uttered a short laugh. "Queer how this silence grips one, isn't it? How foolish we are. It can be nothing much."

Still I couldn't be convinced. There was something uncanny about this place. I felt it. It couldn't have been blasted, not a whole mountain, but it must have been. "Stop a moment, I can't go away not"—and here I noticed a little old man, bent and worn, leaning over what appeared to be a grave. Upon hearing our approach, he turned and looked up. Before either one of us could speak he said in a halting tone, "Don't ask the meaning of this—no one knows." He was talking very softly now. "It was in 1900—the city was asleep, 80 people—and in the night—the mountain just—just crumbled and buried the sleeping city. And in the morning"—spreading his hands—"this is what remained. One hundred miners, I was one, were working in yonder mountain and never knew until morning. All my folks"—dropping his hands—"went, and two unknowns lie here." Then he walked away muttering to himself. Poor man, crazed with grief!

Without a word we stepped into the car and drove away—glad to be gone from the place, but sad because of the poor victims.

L'abbé Constatin

L'abbé Constatin était un bon viex prêtre qui aimait à aider les pauvres. Il y avait plus de trente ans que l'abbé Constatin était curé du petit village au pied du château de Longueval. La marquise de Longueval était morte et Madame Scott, une américaine, a acheté le château. Le marquise de Longueval avait aimé le vieux prêtre et elle l'avait aidé à supporter les pauvres de ce petit village. L'abbé Constatin pensait que Madame Scott était protestante. Il pensait aussi qu'elle ne désirerait pas aider ses pauvres et il était très triste. L'abbé Constatin avait un bon ami qui s'appelait Jean Reynaud. L'abbé Constatin aimait Jean beaucoup. Jean pensait, comme le prêtre, que Madame Scott ne désirerait pas aider les pauvres. Madame Scott est arrivée avec sa sœur et elle était très contente quand elle a rencontré le prêtre. Elle lui dit qu'elle était catholique et elle voulait aider les pauvres. Elle et sa sœur, Bettina Percival, lui donnaient beaucoup d'argent.

Madame Scott devenait une bonne amie de l'abbé Constatin et il a diné chez elle souvent. Jean Reynaud aimait Bettina mais il était pauvre et elle était très, très riche, Bettina l'aimait aussi. Jean était trop fier à demander qu'elle se marierait à un homme pauvre. Bettina a compris la situation. Jean l'aimait et, ainsi, ils se sont mariés. L'abbé Constatin était content parce qu'ils étaient heureux et il avait beaucoup d'argent pour ces pauvres.

Epistula de Interitu Troiae

Achates Baleæ salutem saluti meae dicit. Si vales, bene est; valeo.

Heu, Troia, fuit—Ilium, urbs Troia gloria clara! Graii perfidi, diebus iuvantibus, in urbem nostram equo fatali venerunt. Nos Sinon's os mentiens fefellit, quos neque Achilles, nec tela, non anni dicem, non carinae mille vincere potuerant. Postquam Laocöon, Neptuna sacerdos sorte delectus, in feri latus hastam iecit, ecce brevi tempore gemini. Angues a Tenedo per alta ad litora iter tetenderunt. Illi Laocoön et parvos natos eius interfecerunt. Verbis Sinon's creditis, equum fatatam in urbem traximus.

Nocte, omnibus somno victis, Sinon claustra pinea laxit et Danai prosiluerunt. Illi atque Danai qui per æquora venerant, urbem delere et incolas trucidare inciperunt. Troiam incenderunt et Danaos furor vicit. Totum Priam, ævo gravem, et Politem, natum eius, ceciderunt.

Ad montes propinquos fugimus quo in loco cum Aenea nos convenimus et urbis occasum despeximus.

Una Historia Breve de Waukegan en Espanol

Hace muchos años, aun antes del tiempo que alguna persona recuerda, un puñado pequeño de descubridores fundaron un puesto para negociar pieles, en la ribera del lago Michigan, el que llamaron el Fuerte Pequeño, pero que, en la lengua de los indios, se llamaba Waukegan.

Después de un poco tiempo esta fundación fué destruida por los indios.

Algún tiempo más tarde otro grupo de descubridores avanzó por la ribera del lago Michigan, hasta el sitio donde el puesto para negociar pieles del Fuerte Pequeño había estado, y aquí fundaron el pueblo que se dió el nombre indio que significa el Fuerte Pequeño-Waukegan.

Por cuenta de la situación ser conveniente a las industrias fabriles, marina, mercante, pesca y agricultura, la aldea nueva comenzó a aumentar casi tan rápidamente como alguno de los establecimientos en el oeste medio.

Waukegan ha adelantado hasta, a la fecha presente, la ciudad contiene un número grande de industrias y más de treinta y cinco mil habitantes.

A Portion of the Prize Essay, "Chemistry in Relation to Health and Disease"

Louis Pasteur, in his address before the French Academy of Sciences April 29, 1878, commences his memorable paper, "The Germ Theory and Its Application to Medicine and Surgery," with the sentence "The sciences gain by mutual support." It must be conceded that it is only in comparatively recent years that the two noble sciences of medicine and chemistry have stood shoulder to shoulder pushing aside the boulders of ignorance and superstition. Ever guided by the humanitarian point of view, these related sciences have vigorously encouraged united Research; the ultimate outcome of which has been the saving of thousands of lives from abnormalities, the lifting of countless thousands out of the dark shadows of sickness into the sunlight of good health, and the making of life longer and happier to the great masses of people.

That chemistry is valuable to the modern physician is indicated by the increasing demand for more training and study in the basic and fundamental principles of this science. We find the investigators, pioneer medical men of the old school, returning to the universities in great numbers to pursue further this study, that they may undertake more scientifically the development of their investigations. We find the major universities throughout the land demanding of the already overloaded medical student double and treble the former requisites in this fundamental science. Such demands show the imperative necessity of well-grounded instruction in chemistry and conclusively prove the truth of the prophetic words of H. A. Rowland, the renowned American physicist, when he said, "All the sciences are linked together and must advance in concert. The human body is a chemical and physical problem, and these sciences must advance before we can conquer disease."

But one of the greatest additions to the medical armamentarium is the ability to use aniline dyes, coal-tar derivatives, in the curing of infected wounds and in combating septicemia. The chemists, who during and after the World War worked unceasingly to produce the kind of dyes which are responsible for the many luxuriously colored costumes, were at the same time unintentionally rendering invaluable assistance to medical science.

These dyes first found their way into medical laboratories a few years ago by their use in staining microorganisms for study. It then developed that certain dyes caused certain germs to be inhibited or killed. From the observance of this phenomenon came the theory that what had taken place in the laboratory could also be successfully accomplished in the human body. Upon further investigation, the dyes inhibiting the bacteria known as staphylococcus aureus, streptococcus hemolyticus, and streptococcus viridans were found to be the dyes known to the chemist as acid fuchsine, acriviolet, acriflavine, gertian violet and mercurochrome.

It is hoped that in addition to their germicidal quality, these dyes will prove to possess an inhibitory power within the body. In connection with this possibility there is on record a case in which, when an acriviolet-soaked gauze had been inserted into the wound at a mastoid operation, the tissue in the sinus of the post-operative wound was quite sterile at the first dressing ten days after the operation, thus demonstrating the possibility of leaving an antiseptic within a highly sensitive cavity, a course of action impossible with iodine or bichloride of mercury.

Even though the problem of conquering infection with aniline dyes is still open to much research and experimentation, former investigations in this field have proved to be the "Open Sesame" for further contributions to medical science.

As an outgrowth of his synthesis of aniline dyes from coal tar, the chemist has actually worked wonders in the synthetic production of drugs. The first coal-tar drug to be of use to the physician was antipyrin. Produced from aniline in 1883, by Knorr of Germany, antipyrin has proven successful as a substitute for quinine in curing common coryza. From the same experimenters came the discovery of acetanilide, prepared from aniline by treating the latter with acetic acid. Other coal-tar drugs are the soporifics, such as veronal, medinal and sulfonal. The chemist accomplished a most remarkable victory in drug synthesis when he extracted from chaulmoogra oil the acids whose ethyl esters are the curative principles for the long-dreaded disease, leprosy. As A. Frederick Collins says in his book, "Wonders of Chemistry," "The chemists have acquired, what is called in physics, momentum, and having got a good start nothing can stop them in their efforts to duplicate nature's drugs and to make new ones."

This momentum broke down the barrier to cooperation between chemists and physicians, and swept them into the sphere of their combined efforts to produce anesthetics. The use of some form of sporific drug as a substitute for anesthesia dates back to antiquity. The soothing Egyptian nepenthe, which Helen casts into the wine for Ulysses in the Odyssey, the "samme de shinta" of the Hebrew's Talmud, the "bhang" of the Arabian Nights and the "drowsy drops" of Shakespeare's time are all examples of legendary anesthetics.

Dioscorides, the originator of the materia medica, tells in his therapeutic works of the soporific virtues of mandragora wine, which proved to be a substitute anesthetic during the Middle Ages.

Another medieval alternate was the formula of the "spongia somnifera." Concerning the "spongia" the medical historian Garrison says, "The sponge was steeped in a mixture of opium, hyoscyamus, mulberry juice, lettuce, hemlock, mandragora and ivy, dried; and, when moistened, was inhaled by the patient, who was subsequently awakened by applying fennel-juice to the nostrils." This method of bringing about insensibility was in vogue up to the seventeenth century.

To this science, also, the medical profession and the world at large owe a debt of never-ending gratitude through the personage of one of the most versatile geniuses the world has ever known—Louis Pasteur. Chemistry well-nigh reaches its Utopia through the researches of this man alone. His overthrow of the incredible theory of "spontaneous generation," and his subsequent establishment of the doctrine of bacterial infection is one of the truly epoch-making discoveries in chemical and medical history. He laid the foundation for Lord Lister's antiseptic surgery—surgery as we know it today. Pursuing his investigations, he developed an antitoxin containing the specific agent of rabies. Though not a physician he conclusively established its clinical value. As a result of this work we find two new sub-branches of medical science, bacteriology and immunology, founded by this eminent chemist, which have made unlimited advancement, and stand today the conquerors of some of the greatest scourges of the human race—diphtheria, typhoid fever, meningitis and pneumonia. With such remarkable progress before them, the biochemists of today are seeking the pure active principles of the various antitoxins, vaccines and serum mixtures, the outcome of which will be refined and improved vaccines, doing away with a preponderance of useless impurities now injected into our veins and tissues. This problem of separating the minute amount of pure active principle which must be present in all serums is in its infancy and is one of great moment in chemo-medical research.

Physicians and chemists have again demonstrated the feasibility of their cooperation, in the furthering of our knowledge of the metabolic processes of the body and the chemo-pathological action of the vitamins. To Frederick Gowland Hopkins, prælector of biochemistry at Trinity College, goes the honor of having first observed that a dire lacking in the amino-acids, arginine and histidine, will fail to maintain life. Based upon this early observance of the importance of vitamins, a scientific explanation of such deficiency diseases as polyneuritis, rickets, scurvy and beri-beri was later evolved. One of the greatest of European chemists, Emil Fischer, laid the foundation for the modern study of the metabolism of proteins, a knowledge of the chemical changes occurring in digestion, which is of infinite value to the physician at the bedside. We must, therefore, look to the chemist to furnish additional data on carbohydrate and protein metabolism, and a more exacting research of the comparatively new field of food analysis with special reference to vitamins, and perhaps show how certain vitamins may be synthetically produced.

WILLIAM MCWHORTER LOEHR.

The Foucault Pendulum

The rotation of the earth has long been one of conjectures, explanations and disputes of many kinds. Many physical phenomena are known before an explanation is found. The solution of the mystery may often be preceded by superstition and followed by dispute.

Since the day of Copernicus physicists, astronomers and mathematicians have sought imaginatively and diligently for the unraveling of some of the earth's secrets.

Back in the seventeenth century, it was known by Viviani that a long pendulum slowly and regularly changed its plane of vibration. Galileo was disturbed in his worship by a chandelier, hanging on a long chain, which exhibited this and other phenomena. Its full explanation remained to be solved by a young Frenchman, about 1850, by the name of Foucault. His experimental work has caused a long pendulum to usually be called a Foucault pendulum. He hung a 28 kg. iron ball 67 meters from the center of the dome of the Pantheon in Paris and publicly verified his interpretation.

If undisturbed by external forces a pendulum tends to hold a plane, rotating on the earth's axis, determined by the point of support, the center of the earth and some point out in space away from the earth, and toward which, or away from which, the force causing the vibration is applied. As the earth rotates this original plane changes with respect to the surface of the earth by an angular amount determined by the point of latitude at which the apparent rotation is observed.

The physics department, after several attempts at making proper supporting apparatus, which had to be carefully constructed, finally in November got a Foucault pendulum hung in the third floor ceiling of the Senior High School Building. It hung down three stories in the rectangle made by the stairways, and would continue to swing for hours at a time. Students were asked not to disturb either the pendulum or the wire (but could not refrain perfectly), a necessary requirement for the success of the experiment. The observations were finally made on a Sunday at intervals approximately an hour apart. As closely as it was possible to determine the angular change with the means available was  $104^\circ$  as predicated by the formula  $A^\circ = 15 \sin B^\circ$ , in which B is the angle of latitude. "B" for Waukegan is  $42^\circ 18'$ .

The results of this and other experiments with the pendulum are too detailed to include here but may be seen if you will visit room 207.

"On the 4th of March, 1845, the first number of a newspaper, entitled 'The Little Fort Porcupine and Democratic Banner' was issued at Little Fort."

Found in W. T. H. S. mail bag:

Dear Mr. Fleishman: "Until a few months ago I had always been hampered by my poor looks. Since I have been taking yeast cakes, my cheeks have become nice and rosy and I have a skin you love to touch. In fact, I am very good looking, and am so popular that all the girls want dates with me. I will never be able to thank you enough."

GEORGE MILLS

The Fleur de Lieu mathematical club sets out to find the square root of two. Unconfirmed reports are that several members of the party have been attacked and severely bitten by a roaming pack of vicious quadratics. Their lives were saved only through their presence of mind in seeking shelter under a radical sign, from which a rescue party is now endeavoring to extract them.

Things We Seniors Have Learned

We never whisper in assembly, because we usually can improve our six weeks' grades by studying. But if we don't need to study, we are quiet, because we might disturb someone else who really feels an urge to study.

We never go to class without our lessons, because we all realize that high school is a great opportunity which our grandmothers and grandfathers would have given a lot to have been able to have.

We never borrow pencils, paper or books. We all know the little story about what happens to the workman who goes to work without his tools.

We never are late to class, because we're sure to miss something important and we even might cause the teacher the trouble of repeating the assignment.

We never bluff Latin or History, because we would be taking up the time of the other students. They might be learning something valuable in the time that we waste in bluffing a recitation.

I refuse to go to the Prom.
 I hate to have the dancing start at eight o'clock.
 I loathe dancing with a lot of conceited high school boys.
 I detest trying to talk to the chaperones who watch the dancing so intently.
 I abhor the punch, which is mostly H<sub>2</sub>O with a few raspberries in it.
 I detest the stags who inevitably manage to cut in when I am dancing with someone I like.

 I don't like the programs. They mix me up so.
 I can't stand hot, stuffy rooms.
 I deplore going home at eleven o'clock—the very beginning of the evening.
 I refuse to go to the Prom—I haven't been asked.

WAUKEGAN ACHIEVEMENT

THE passing years in Waukegan High School history have seen many great achievements of loyal men and women. Taking its place among them is The "W" of the class of 1928. It stands as a fitting tribute to the ingenuity and industry of those who built it.

Staff members will experience a great deal of satisfaction and pride in such successful culmination of their work. The Manz Corporation shares in this pride, as it has been our privilege to make the engravings for The "W."

For sixty years Manz has developed—until today it is the largest complete printing establishment of its kind in the country. Here everything required for the complete printed job—from Idea to Finished Product—is produced under one roof.

For years we have been cooperating with student staffs and faculty advisors in the preparation of year books. They have found it profits them to take advantage of Manz creative service in the initial stages of the work.
